York, Pa.-A A Plymouth Rock han, o ned by Charles F. Laucks of Red Lion, delive s an egg each day on the kitchen table with more grace and intell ence than the ordinary buckster.

The fowl found the kitchen door afar one emorning, slipped in, flew upon the table and scratching together several pieces of paper, deposited a clean white egg, ready for use. Since her first effort the door has been left open, but when Mrs. Laucks forgets to do so, the pet cackles for admission. The hen has been so regular that a small cushion has been placed on the table, and each day she comes in and deposits an egg.

First Texas field Discovered by Panilo In-

THIS IS TO CERTIFY, that we, the under signed citizens of Beaumont, Texas, are personally acquainted with Pattillo Higgins of this city; we have known him for many years, and believe him to be perfectly rehable and trustworthy. He is a native of Beaumont, Texas. We know within our personal knowledge that Mr. Higgins discovered the Beaumont Oil Field in the year 1892, and he said when the field way developed that it would be worth millions of dollars. He said that single wells would flow thousands of barrels of oil per day. He located the exact spot where all the big gushers are now found.

Mr. Higgins deserves the whole honor of discovering and developing the Beaumont Oil
